A bumper system for a motor vehicle includes an energy absorber and a bumper beam interconnected the energy absorber and vehicle structure. The bumper system also includes a push bar disposed below and operatively connected to the bumper beam to deflect and rotate during an impact with an object by the bumper system.

12 Claims, 13 Drawing Sheets