Poly Reps Bond at Chumash Challenge

Never in my days as a Poly Rep have I seen such in the physical feats of Poly Reps as I did on that fateful day of the winter retreat at Chumash Challenge. One star of the afternoon was our very own Kayla DeMonte who professed that she could not do more than half of the events she actually partook in. Possibly the most impressive feat that Kayla took on was walking across the ropes while blindfolded. As for the ladder climb, Andrew and Ameen took the gold medal for fastest time, but best teamwork goes to Jen and Lucas. Miss Congeniality for the afternoon was Sarah Eldridge, taking over 100 pictures of the event! All parties involved enjoyed themselves immensely: "What a bonding experience, Chumash Challenge was," said Lindsey Bauer, the stellar tire changer after the day was over. Everyone worked hard to overcome fears, try something and bond as a team. Overall, the retreat allowed us all to go out of our comfort zones physically and emotionally and achieve what we thought to be impossible with the support of friends and faith in ourselves. -Jen Hajar
