Campus Community Invited to Seventh Annual MLK Jr. Legacy Event on Jan. 19

The Cal Poly community is invited to the seventh annual Martin Luther King Jr. celebration, hosted by the Black Academic Excellence Center on Thursday, Jan. 19, at the PAC Pavilion. The event will feature a dinner from 4 to 5:30 p.m., followed by the main program from 5:30 to 7 p.m. The annual event honors Martin Luther King Jr.'s, life and legacy as a pivotal leader and provides an opportunity for the campus and community to reflect on his vision for equality, justice and peace. As part of the celebration, the MLK Legacy Award will be presented to two individuals who lead with love and hope to create a better campus for all. No RSVP is required for Cal Poly faculty and staff, but seating is limited. Students are encouraged to RSVP by visiting Cal Poly Now at <https://now.calpoly.edu/event/8646864>.

Safer Hosts Stalking Action Month in January

Join Safer this month for Stalking Action Month through its campaign: "Love, Boundaries." Ultimately, stalking behaviors are repeated violations of boundaries — and we all deserve our boundaries to be respected. Highlighted events include weekly booths; workshops on boundaries and survivor support, a trivia brunch at Bliss Café, craft circle and continuous education on Instagram @calpolysafer. For more information on Stalking Action Month, including event information and Zoom backgrounds, visit Safer's website at <https://safer.calpoly.edu/jansam>.

Corporation Board of Directors to Meet Feb. 3

Outstanding Staff Award Nominations Due Jan. 20

Staff, faculty members and department or division heads are encouraged to submit nominations for the Outstanding Staff Award. The deadline to submit a nomination for the 2022-23 award is Friday, Jan. 20. To be eligible, nominees must be permanent, full-time employees of the university, Corporation or ASI, who have completed at least three years of employment as of Dec. 31, 2022. (Ten-month employees are eligible.) Employees represented by bargaining unit 3 (faculty), former recipients of the award and student assistants are not eligible. Find the Outstanding Staff Award selection criteria and nomination form at <https://afd.calpoly.edu/hr/employee-resources/osa/nomination-procedures>.

Retirements

Bruno Giberti retired on Dec. 31. Giberti led the Office of Academic Programs and Planning and oversaw the Center for Teaching, Learning and Technology (CTLT), the Office of Writing and Learning Initiatives, the Service Learning Program, and the University Honors Program. As accreditation liaison officer, he managed the university's accreditation and served as primary point of contact with Western Association of Schools and Colleges. He has played a crucial role in strategic planning for the university and Academic Affairs, and in the two most recent WSCUC self-studies and institutional reports, each of which resulted in reaffirmations of accreditation for 10 years. Giberti's leadership skills, focus on institutional improvement, and attention to student success were transformative in these efforts. Giberti came to Cal Poly's Architecture Department in 1994 and also previously served as director of CTLT, associate head of the Architecture Department, and chair of the Academic Senate. These experiences provided Giberti with the broad perspective and institutional knowledge necessary to lead so effectively and to build networks of collaboration and support in service to the campus. Giberti is a proud Cal Poly alumnus; after graduating with a B.S. in architecture, he earned his M.A. and doctorate in architecture from UC Berkeley. In retirement Giberti plans to continue his current research project into the architecture of post-Napoleonic French Protestant churches. A retirement reception, open to the campus community, will be held from 3-5 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 19, in the Rossi Grand Lobby of the PAC. ## In Memoriam

George Gowgani, a Cal Poly alumnus who later taught crop science and served as a department head and associate dean in the College of Agriculture, Food and Environmental Sciences before becoming a CSU trustee, died Dec. 13. Born in Tabriz, Iran, Gowgani immigrated to the U.S. in 1958. He earned his bachelor's degree in crop science and master's degree in education at Cal Poly and then attended the University of Nevada, earning a master's degree in agronomy and a doctorate in biological sciences. He returned to Cal Poly in 1967, subsequently serving as head of the Crop Science Department and associate dean for the college. In 1994, then-President Warren J. Baker appointed Gowgani as Goodwill Ambassador for Higher Education, CSU. Gowgani served on the CSU board of trustees from 2004-11 and was named Honored Alumnus for the College of Agriculture, Food and Environmental Sciences in 2006. "George's contributions to the department and the college set a strong path for student success that continues today," CAFES Dean Andrew Thulin said. "Both in the classroom and as a mentor to faculty, his dedication to Cal Poly and higher education was boundless." Plant Sciences Department Head Scott Steinmaus fondly remembers Gowgani stopping by his office to share a pile of notes and slides for his Weed Science class. "George introduced me to a different way of teaching, more practical and something that college students could actually understand. He was a great perspective builder for me; and my students are very thankful." A memorial will be held for Gowgani on Feb. 18. RSVP at <https://www.gowganifamily.com>.
