Regional Economic Development Organization REACH, in partnership with Deloitte, completed an economic impact analysis of Cal Poly that indicates the university's annual economic impact in the region is $2.6 billion, making up 12% of the area's economic activity. The analysis evaluated data covering both San Luis Obispo and Northern Santa Barbara counties, including employment, capital expenditures and other spending by the university, students, faculty and staff, and visitors. As the largest employer in San Luis Obispo County, Cal Poly employs the full-time equivalent of 5,000 people with a total payroll of $403 million, which collectively contributes $576 million to the region. The analysis found that the biggest boost to the region's economy — $1.4 billion — comes from the university's development of an educated regional workforce.

Support the Cal Poly community by donating new or gently used winter coats and jackets to students in need. Donation bins will be available through Friday, Dec. 1, at the following locations: the Native American and Indigenous Cultural Center, second floor of the UU, Wellbeing Services, Career Services, the Recreation Center and The Mustang Success Center in the Science Building (No. 52). Contact Hannah Steen, basic needs coordinator, with any questions at hasteen@calpoly.edu.

The Center for Service in Action invites students, staff, faculty and their families to contribute to the Mustang Holiday Gift Drive by picking up a gift tag and purchasing a gift for a child in need or by donating money via the center's direct giving link. Each tag represents a specific request supporting local children and families in need. To pick up a gift tag, visit one of the Giving Tower locations on campus at: the Recreation Center Lobby (No. 43); the second floor of the UU (No. 65); and outside the Mustang Success Center in the Science Building (No. 52) Room D37. Valerie “Val” Majjala will retire Friday, Dec. 15, after 32 years with the CSU system, including 23 years at Cal Poly. In 1999, Majjala left Cal State San Bernardino and accepted a job as an administrative assistant in the Procurement Office. She was on the first implementation team for PeopleSoft Finance, which led to her role as the CMS Finance lead. “Even though I’m looking forward to my next chapter, I’ll definitely miss my first-floor family in the Admin. Building,” she said. Her plans include attending more Los Angeles Rams games, spending quality time with her family, sleeping in, traveling, pouring wine at a local winery and drinking wine (lots of wine!). Leave a farewell message on her virtual card — at www.kudoboard.com/boards/JDG3u6Y4 — with the option to include photos and videos as well. Colleagues and friends are invited to join her for light refreshments at a farewell celebration on Thursday, Dec. 7, from 3 to 4:30 p.m. on Vista Grande's third-floor patio.
