Presidential Inaugural Poet Headlines Change Status Quo Lecture Series Feb. 27

Award-winning poet Richard Blanco will read from his works and deliver a moderated discussion at the 22nd annual Change the Status Quo Social Justice and Service Lecture Series at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 27, in Chumash Auditorium. Selected by President Barack Obama in January 2013 as only the fifth presidential inaugural poet in U.S. history, Blanco's personal negotiation of cultural identity and the universal themes of place and belonging characterize his many collections of poetry. His work asks such universal questions as: Where am I from? Where do I belong? Who am I in this world? Cal Poly's Center for Service in Action's annual event aims to empower students to use the Learn by Doing spirit to challenge social norms, ask critical questions, demand solutions and make lasting social change. Admission is free and open to the public.

The Mustang Band will appear for the ninth time in the Alaska Airlines Chinese New Year Parade — named by the International Festivals and Events Association as one of the top 10 parades in the world — on Saturday, Feb. 24, in San Francisco. The Mustang Band first performed along the 1.3-mile-length of the parade in 2014 and was among 15 marching bands that participated. This year's parade in celebration of the Wood Dragon will begin at 6 p.m. The band's more than 220 members are from academic disciplines across the campus. At 3 p.m., the band will continue the tradition of performing with the UC Davis Marching Band in front of the landmark Ferry Building. The event will be broadcast live on KTVU Fox 2 and streamed live from the parade's Facebook page.
