Working out of Mustang Business Park, Linderman will lead a budget and fiscal planning team in overseeing all aspects of the campus budget planning, development, administration and reporting.

Cal Poly Expands Research on Oil and Gas Well Emissions with Nearly $1M Grant

Cal Poly's environmental engineering team is broadening its groundbreaking research on greenhouse gas emissions from California's idle and abandoned oil and gas wells, thanks to a nearly $1 million grant from the Department of Conservation. The new three-year project, led by assistant professor Derek Manheim alongside professors Nazli Yesiller and Jim Hanson, builds on previous studies to provide a more comprehensive understanding of emissions from idle and abandoned wells across the state.
