The annual Focus Forward Survey launched today to gain insight into how departments and units are performing. The results will help teams fine-tune services and deliverables and further understand customer needs. For each department survey completed, respondents will be entered into a prize drawing. Respondents are only asked to complete the relevant surveys. Take the Survey: afd.calpoly.edu/survey/

Future Housing Site Work: Preparation for Modulars

The site work for future housing buildings A and B is taking shape. Crews have excavated and graded the land and are building retaining walls. Utility tie-ins are also underway. FullStack Modular mobilized its new Southern California factory for the project and is fabricating modular "suite-style" dorm rooms for a stacked high-rise installation. Building A is anticipated to open in fall 2026 to more than 400 students. The design of subsequent buildings is being improved for additional efficiencies – one of the benefits of utilizing the same contractor for each phase of the project.
