Pop-Up Resilience Room at Downtown SLO Farmers Market

Cal Poly's Experience Industry Management (EIM) Department is launching a new research initiative aimed at fostering greater inclusion in public spaces. For five consecutive Thursdays this spring, visitors to the Downtown San Luis Obispo Farmers Market can experience the Pop-Up Resilience Room — a calming, neuroinclusive environment located at the Cal Poly Center for Innovation and Entrepreneurship at 872 Higuera St. The project is specifically designed to support individuals who experience sensory overwhelm or sensory overstimulation, including those who may have avoided community events like the farmers market in the past. Cal Poly Arab FSA - Mixer Thursday, April 17

We are pleased to announce the first Arab Faculty and Staff Association (FSA) at Cal Poly — aimed at building community, fostering connections and strengthening relationships between Arab-identifying faculty and staff. We hope to create greater synergy with Arab-affiliated student clubs and organizations, to enhance our community's contributions and provide opportunities to center our experiences through programs and events. We would love to connect with any colleagues on campus who are connected to Arab identity and culture. Join us for our first membership mixer 11 a.m. to noon April 17 in the Berg Gallery (05-105). Email arabfsa@calpoly.edu for more information.

National and International Fellowships and Scholarships

Explore unique academic and professional opportunities with the National and International Fellowships and Scholarships (NIFS). This program provides holistic support for undergraduate and graduate students to engage in meaningful experiences such as research, teaching, or internships, both domestically and internationally. Our NIFS Team, guided by Susan Cheng, associate provost for student success, and Nishi Rajakaruna, NIFS faculty coordinator, offers personalized support to help students navigate and apply for prestigious awards, including the Churchill, Rhodes, and Truman scholarships. We're pleased to announce our updated NIFS website, featuring a searchable database of over 45 opportunities. Schedule a meeting with Rajakaruna.

Poly Gives - April 10-12

It's almost time for Poly Gives, when the Cal Poly community unites in support of Learn by Doing. We especially appreciate our faculty and staff, who are vital to making this day a success. Will your college, department, team, or club show up in the rankings this year? Not without your support! During Poly Gives, your gift fuels a collective impact that funds the Learn by Doing experiences that change students' lives. This includes gifts to student-led crowdfunding campaigns, which support student projects and organizations. Take part in the excitement — you won't want to miss the fun! Intergenerational Child-Adult Care Assessment Survey

Cal Poly seeks input on creating an intergenerational child and adult care facility to better support the campus community. The proposal features hands-on learning and research opportunities for students while fostering meaningful connections between children and seniors. The online survey, which continues through Monday, April 21, will help gauge interest and assess the feasibility of an intergenerational care facility to serve the needs of campus workers, students and other stakeholders. The survey takes about 15 minutes to complete: surveymonkey.com/r/CPNeedsAssessmentSurvey

In Memoriam: School of Education: Louis Pippin

Louis D. Pippin, a faculty emeritus in the School of Education, died Monday, March 24, at his residence in San Luis Obispo County. Teaching education at Cal Poly from 1971 to 1992, Pippin was the recipient of the Distinguished Teacher Award for the 1973-74 academic year. Memorial services will be held at Reis Family Mortuary at 991 Nipomo St., in San Luis Obispo, at 2 p.m. April 12.

EPaCE Offers Course: The Rise of Cults, From Jonestown to NXIVM

Extended, Professional and Continuing Education (EPaCE) at Cal Poly will offer a non-credit course, "Cults: From Jonestown to NXIVM," exploring the rise of controversial religious movements. Taught by Religious Studies Professor Steve Lloyd-Moffett, the course runs May 6-20, with three Tuesday sessions from 6-8 p.m. Topics include Scientology, Heaven's Gate, NXIVM, and more. Participants will examine how scholars differentiate cults from religions. The $149 course fee covers all materials. On-campus location TBD. Register now to delve into one of America's most fascinating cultural phenomena. Learn More: extended.calpoly.edu/programs/extension-offerings/

ASI Recreational Sports

Every Monday and Wednesday of spring quarter, learn Shorin-Ryu karate and envelop yourself in one of the oldest styles of karate! This full-body workout will help to improve your power, speed and self-confidence. Looking for something faster pace? Immerse yourself in the rhythms of Latin dance at ASI's Salsa and Bachata Workshops! Learn the fundamental steps, turns and partner connections of Salsa in a fun and casual environment, led by an experienced instructor. Registration is required for both offerings, and a fee is associated with the programs.

Written in the Waters: A Conversation with Tara Roberts - April 13

National Geographic Explorer-in-Residence Tara Roberts will speak about her new book, "Written in the Waters," reflecting on her work with the underwater archaeology group Diving With A Purpose, exploring slave shipwrecks and uncovering the stories of those lost during the Middle Passage. Roberts delves into her own family's history, confronting the legacy of the transatlantic slave trade — reflecting on Black identity and the past through her personal journey. Cal Poly Arts is offering FREE tickets to this event for current Cal Poly students, faculty, and staff. Claim Your Ticket: pacslo.eventue.net/
