AT&T Joins Cal Poly 5G Network, Expanding Coverage in Poly Canyon

The Cal Poly Noyce School of Applied Computing's 5G Innovation Lab has partnered with Kajeet and AT&T to launch a certified system in Poly Canyon, improving coverage in one of the campus's most difficult-to-serve areas and opening new opportunities for research and innovation. Certification was finalized Aug. 5 after Kajeet and Mobilecomm, an AT&T-approved vendor, completed performance testing and 911 service checks with the local Public Safety Answering Point.

Cadets Lead the Nation at Advanced Camp 2025

Cal Poly cadets placed highest in the nation at Advanced Camp 2025 in Fort Knox, Kentucky. The camp is a premier summer training event that brings together more than 5,000 ROTC cadets from across the nation, testing their leadership, endurance and military proficiency under rigorous conditions. The cadets' combined performance average was the highest across the nation. Competing against the best and brightest cadets from over 265 ROTC programs nationwide, the Mustang Battalion's success highlights the program's unmatched training, mentorship and commitment to excellence. Plus, four cadets earned the prestigious Distinguished Military Graduate recognition.

HSI Mini-Grant Applications for AY 25-26 Now Open

The Cal Poly HSI High-Impact Mini-Grant Program was launched at the ¡Adelante! HSI Symposium on Monday, Oct. 6. Applications are now being accepted for the academic year 2025-26. This funding opportunity supports projects and initiatives that advance the university's commitment to servingness and move Cal Poly closer to becoming an HSI rooted in holistic student success. Faculty, staff, students, student organizations, departments and campus units are all eligible to apply. A step-by-step guide is available on our website to assist applicants in completing the process. Applications are due Oct. 31.

BEACoN Research Faculty Mentor Applications Due Oct. 10

Faculty applications are open for the BEACoN Research Mentoring Program, run by the Office of University Diversity and Inclusion (OUDI). Centering underrepresented students but open to all undergraduates, BEACoN makes research experience accessible by providing funded research opportunities working one-on-one with faculty. OUDI now solicits applications for faculty mentors via either faculty-generated or OUDI-generated ideas for campus-related topics. Running in Winter and Spring, selected faculty receive $1,000 per quarter and students receive $2,000 per quarter via financial aid. Applications are due at 5 p.m. Friday, Oct. 10. Questions? Email Dr. Kelly Bennion at kbennion@calpoly.edu.
